

If someone wants to sell me something, let them mail their information. I do not want them invading my home.